Tisdale: To sum it up 2011 will test us all with its difficult weather. There will be provincial and perhaps a federal election and once again the Riders will be in the Western final. What more can you ask for in a year that starts us into the second decade of the 21st century. 2010

by: Michael Townsend

Yuma, Arizona: Many Canadians go South for the winter just like the birds and some stay in Arizona. Two days before Christmas Mike Townsend captured a bit of the spirit and the environment around a Canadian colony in the desert.

Tisdale: Our family is on the road tonight on their way to join us for Christmas and a few days more. The tree is up, the gifts are wrapped and I am confident that they Christmas pudding cooking right now will be a delight to us all on Saturday. With the family here there will not be much time for working on Ensign so we will get back to you after the week end to consider the prospects for the coming year. Have yourself a Merry Christmas and may this season bless everyone you know.

the new stuff before you have to learn yet another. Just upgrades all software and changed the hard drive all at once. Moan! \(Click here to see full size.\)

House Sixteen

Thursday
December 23,
2010

by: Timothy W. Shire

Tisdale: This is the sixteenth housing start in 2010. There is still one more to be considered a 2010 house and one of this year's projects did not take place. An old dwelling was destroyed and the lot prepared for construction to the point that established in my picture collection as house 5 but the project did not proceed.

Talk around the dinner table about finding a supernova led grade five Kathryn Aurora Gray to attack the problem and on her first try she came up a winner. The find was verified and she is credited with the find.

Tisdale: It is much a part of going to school as homework and spelling bees. The annual Christmas concert is a rite of passage for a child in kindergarten and we are taking you along to a modern version of a concert in Regina.

Campbell River, British Columbia: Many people from around the world visit this web site each week but among the most faithful visitors are former Tisdale people and their families. It seems to be a good way to see some pictures of their community. Sylvia Jones graduated from TUCS in the late 60s and she and many of her friends are planning a get together in Penticton in October 2011.

by: Timothy W. Shire

Tisdale: Sunday's presentation by the community men's choir and the Tisdale senior band played to a full house in the RECplex theatre and as a special bonus Ward Arnold is home for the holidays and did three numbers. This story includes video clips of Ward Arnold and the band.

The Greenwater report

Monday

December 13, 2010

by: Gerald Crawford

Saskatoon: Alas Doreen Crawford has reach her eightieth birthday and the Crawfords' family and friends were on hand Sunday to celebrate the occasion. Gerald gives us a run down on who was there and was able to get in a paragraph about the deep snow conditions at Greenwater Lake Provincial Park.
